battle of production. After five months of production in Germany,

By EDWIN SHANKE
LISBON, May 20.—Hitler's problem no longer is one of staying head of the Allies' war output.
Now he has a struggle to keep up
it.

Five serious bottlenecks stand in his way—the chronic and growing shortage of raw materials, sabotage
and lack of manpower, transportation and electric power.

Production figures, naturally, are secret. What meager hints or faint indications that get out are not to suspicion as attempts to island.

2,000 Planes a Month
An estimate by a source with access to reliable information, however, has put Germany's airplane production potential at between 200 and 2,500 planes a month. Her total of planes is believed to have fallen from about 10,000 when the war started to about 25,000 now.

Yet the need for airplanes grew urgent last fall that Reichsmar-shal Hermann Goering ordered to the eastern front all planes reserved for testing and experimentation.

Aircraft engineers who had been working on new designs were instructed to concentrate on boosting output.

From one plant alone, it was said,
out of every four engines was turned back for overhauling or only a few flights.

Submarines slid from the ways at a rate estimated at 15 to 18 a month.

But Germany is building no capital ships because, say naval experts, she cannot and still keep up her needed naval building.

Her only aircraft carrier, the Graf Zepplin, is said to be lying in Stettin harbor only 80 per cent completed.

With unlimited manpower and materials resources, naval experts believe, Germany could produce 25 to 28 U-boats a month.

There are no reliable estimates on arm production but Nazi difficulties are indicated by the fact that

Kept Fighting With One Arm

Robert L. Dickey and Rear Admiral Friedell

In aerial combat near Midway island, March 10, U. S. Marine Gunner Robert L. Dickey had one arm rendered useless by Japanese machine gun fire. Despite his wounds, Dickey continued to fight and his heroic action contributed to the final destruction of a fourengined Japanese bomber. For his courage under fire, Dickey, now in the Mare Island, San Francisco, Naval hospital, has received his Distinguished Flying Cross. It was presented by Rear Admiral W. L.
Friedell, right, commandant of the Mare Island Navy yard.

TOKYO CLAIMS
ARE BLASTED

Not a Single U. S. Plane
Lost in Recent Raid,
Doolittle Says

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Those nine American bombers the Japanese claimed to have shot down
during last month's sensational raid over Tokyo turned out today to be as mythical as the Shangri-La from which President Roosevelt said they came.

Brig. Gen. James H. (Jimmy)
Doolittle, revealed yesterday as the leader of the squadron that blasted a 40 mile path of fire and destruction through Japan on April 18, declared that all the bombers reached their destinations safely.

Told, after President Roosevelt had presented him with a Congressional Medal of Honor for the feat, that the Japanese claimed to have one of the American planes on display, the sparse-haired 45 year old former speed champion hoisted.

"The Japanese do not have one of our planes on display," he said.
"They may have painted up one of their own to look like ours, or they may have gotten an American plane from somewhere else, but not from us."

Take-Off Base Secret
He declined to discuss a Russian announcement that an American plane had landed in Russia shortly after the raid had been interned.

He likewise declined to say from where the bombers took off. President Roosevelt has suggested Shangri-La, the Tibetan sanctuary
portrayed in James Hilton's novel,
"Lost Horizon."

"The German radio reported last night that Doolittle had 'carried out the air attack against Japan from the airbase Shangri-La, which was not otherwise described by Roosevelt.'"

General Doolittle disclosed that the raiders flew at almost house-top level except when they approached their targets. Then they rose to 1,500 feet in order to escape
the blast of their own bombers. Purpose of the high-speed low flight level, he explained, was to make the heads of anti-aircraft weapons swim.

"Apparently there was no advance warning of the raid," Doolittle said, "as we experienced little hostile reaction. Not more than 30 Japanese pursuit planes were observed during the flight and these were completely ineffective."

Knights of Columbus, are completing plans for the exemplification of the first degree at ceremonies here on June 8. The second and third degrees will be conferred at a rally in Cuyahoga Falls on June

Members and their families will attend a coverdish supper planned
by the local council at 6 p. m.
Thursday at the council rooms.

Arthur Palardy of Coshocton was elected state treasurer of the organization at the recent Ohio con-

as erroneously announced yesterday.

LONDON, May 20.—Allied air commands are aiming at expansion enabling them to send 1,000 bombers a night against German targets, an authoritative source indicated today.
"A thousand planes is not a fantastic figure," this source declared.
"At present we have the facilities for sending 800 planes on raids, and these can be expanded."

LONDON, May 20.—One detachment of four-motored Stirling bombers carried 40,000 fire bombs to Mannheim and attacked that southwestern German city last night, air ministry sources said.

The capacity of Britain as an air base has not yet been fully developed, he added.
"The objective is expansion so great that on any night with good weather conditions we will be able to send 1,000 aircraft to bomb Germany," he said, pointing out that this would not mean every night.

Ohio, whose war honor roll grows apace, had fresh cause to rejoice
today.

Through three of her sons, the Buckeye state shared in the April shower of United States bombs on perfidious Japan.

The War department disclosed that these Ohio lieutenants in the Army Air Corps were among the 79 officers and enlisted men led by Brig. Gen. James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle.

William M. Bower, 25, son of Mrs.
Kathryn Bower of Ravenna; Robert J. Meder, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Meder of Lakewood;
and Richard E. Cole, 26, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Fred Cole of Dayton.

Too, Ohio's maternal interest extends to General Doolittle, who won fame as a speed king at Cleveland's national air races, and to the officer's 21-year-old son, Second Lieut. James H. Doolittle, Jr., presently stationed at Patterson field, near Dayton.

"I'm pretty cocky about my old man," the youthful flier commented hastily between training flights on learning who commanded the bomber squadron. "They couldn't have picked a better one."

The pilot of General Doolittle's own bomber was not identified officially, but Daytonians recalled that Cole previously guided aircraft used by his superior. Only last March 17 Cole, son of a Dayton streets department employee, piloted the general to Patterson field for a visit with James H. Jr.

Relatives of the Buckeye aviators
received the news jubilantly.
Said Meder's mother:
"We had a hunch he was on the raid. We are very proud of him."

Mrs. W. H. Marsh, Brown's grandmother, commented:
"He once told me that if his number happened to come up it would be all right with him, because he'd be flying and that is the only thing
in the world he really likes to do."

Meder was graduated from Miami university in 1939. He was a member of Miami's track team. Bower, a Ravenna high school graduate,
studied at Hiram college and Kent
State university.

Facing New Farm Tasks

CHICAGO, May 20.—The state and county war boards which secretary of agriculture set up last July to promote the "Food For Victory" campaign may shortly have to take over the job of rationing vital farm supplies, state triple-A chairman in conference here were advised today.

E. D. White, assistant AAA chief, told the chairmen who head the state war boards, that present procedure for allocation of steel to farm equipment manufacturers were "considerably less than half of last year's figure" and that some method of obtaining equitable distribution was indicated. Use of the war boards in this connection has been suggested by the agricultural department.

The same type of rationing may have to be undertaken for other supplies, such as fertilizer and bagging, in which critical shortages exist or may develop, he said.

Gen. Doolittle, Who Led Raid On Tokyo, Is Honored

In a surprise ceremony in the White House, President Roosevelt pins the Congressional Medal of Honor on Brig. Gen. James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle, the famous flier, for having successfully led the recent destructive raid by Army bombers on Tokyo. This was the first news that Doolittle had led the raid. His wife, who flew to Washington from Los Angeles for the ceremony, didn't even know her husband was back in the U. S., she said. Others shown at the presentation are Lieut. Gen. H. H. GAS RATIONS

Government Considers Nation-Wide Program To Conserve Rubber

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The possibility of further gasoline rationing spread over the nation today as the government considered curtailment of automobile driving throughout the country to conserve rubber.

The War Production board directed the Office of Defense Transportation to draw up a nationwide
plan, in consultation with Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes and Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

July 1 was mentioned as the logical date to start the program, if it finally is adopted. That is the date consumer rationing by coupon books will become effective in the east and Pacific northwest, supplanting the present temporary card rationing system which began last Friday.

Overall gasoline consumption in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia now is curtailed by 50 per cent. Oregon and Washington, now with a one-third cut, will go on a one-half basis June 1. Rationing in these areas was brought about by the sinking and war diversion of tanker ships which normally supply the coastal regions.

WPE MAY LIMIT STOCKS OF GOODS

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The War Production board is expected soon to limit the stocks of goods which may be held by "retailers and wholesalers."

Such a plan is being considered by the board, informed persons said today, in order to assure an equitable supply of consumer goods, despite wartime production curtail-ments, for all merchants and their customers.

The action would cover a consumer field as sweeping as the universal price ceiling which went into effect on all retail sales Monday; that is, virtually everything that Americans wear, use or eat.

The contemplated edict would forbid storekeepers and wholesalers from building up inventories of merchandise greater than they held in some stipulated past period.

WIN NOMINATIONS

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—Major General Edward Martin, soft-spoken

but fiery political officeholder, were nominated today as rivals for the governorship of Pennsylvania at the November election.

Martin the Pew-Grundy Republi-

U. S. Senator James J. Davis, U. S.
secretary of labor under three presidents, the first defeat of his long political career.

Ross defeated Judge Ralph H.

Both winners were backed by

Their slates for other state-wide

Australian Official Warns
Of New Japanese Offensive Action

(By Associated Press)
Overshadowed by the great battles in Russia, the far Pacific war theater took on ominous new significance today as Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin warned that
"the tempo of the struggle is increasing and our fighting men
hourly face the supreme test."

Curtin's statement, possibly hinting at the imminence of a new Japanese invasion threat, followed upon China's warning yesterday that Japan was preparing a major offensive to crush Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's main Chinese armies and knock China out of the war.

"You have been told that the grave possibilities," Curtin said, "I next few weeks are fraught with repeat that warning in the sternest
terms."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said American and Australian fliers continued their scouting sweeps over the northern islands where the Japanese were reported massing new armadas for a possible thrust toward Australia.

On the Burma front, British headquarters announced "no change" as British rearguards awaited contact with Japanese troops driving up the Chindwin river valley toward India.

Heavy rains drenched the Yunnan front, in the desolate mountains of southern China just above
Burma, where the American Lieut.-
Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese armies are attempting to check the Japanese advance up the Burma road.

Shorter War Predicted
By U. S. Secretary Hull

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Secretary of State Hull indicated today
he saw some grounds for hope that victory for the United Nations might come sooner than had been expected earlier this year.

Asked at his press conference whether developments in recent weeks on the home and foreign fronts encouraged him to believe in an earlier victory, Hull replied that the powers and facilities of the United States have been developing on a more and more massive scale, not only for offensive-defensive operations but for outright offensive war.

It was only natural, he suggested,
that calculations as to the duration of the war should be made in the light of those facts.

WHAT DID YOU DO IN THE WAR?

Millions of civilians these days are learning about war the hard way. Frankly, we are feeling let down and disillusioned because of a sneaking hope that there'd be an easier way to prove our patriotism. Aren't we?

But there hasn't been any easy way for the boys who were hustled off to training camps and from there to the world's hot spots. They came down to earth with a thud and the rest of us will have to do likewise—and bear it.

What must be borne chiefly is the shocking realization that war works no magic. It clears no obstacles, accomplishes no reforms, makes no improvements. Everything must be done as prosaically as before—and there's lots more of it. That's the only difference. People are just as cantankerous and annoying as ever. The second and third raters haven't improved any. The stubborn still have to be coaxed, the niggers still have to be appeased and the featherweights must be handled charitably.

Moreover, most of the jobs to be done aren't any more glorious or exciting than washing dishes—or picking up litter in an army camp. They take time, too. And as often as not the work has been badly planned, as though those in charge didn't realize what they owe to us Grade A patriots who have volunteered to perform it. Perhaps the instructor was a half hour late. Or didn't know the answers. Or talked too much. Or made some silly mistake. Or worst of all, perhaps someone didn't appreciate what a noble thing you were doing by being present.

Naturally, all of us are willing to do our part in the war. Also naturally, we expect that master-minds are going to see to it that everything is done efficiently, whether it's turning out war material or teaching a crowd of clumsy middle-aged men to tie the right kind of knot in a bandage. But, of course, it's not going to be that way. Work never is that way. Work is a patience-trying, nerve-racking process of getting things accomplished the hard way, which is why it's work.

When a grand-child asks, "What did you do in the war?" it would be mighty embarrassing to have to reply, "Why I was willing to do anything, of course, but I got disgusted with the way things were being handled and decided not to waste my time. And besides, they always wanted me to do something on the days I was busy. We just never got together."

HONEST CONFESSION

The circus confusion of events that keeps spectators from seeing single things clearly will quickly blur recollections of the United States senate's recent soul-searching. Why, the senators wanted to know, had gasoline rationing exploded in their honest faces? Why had the press reviled them for assuming the right of special privilege? Where oh where were their friends and protectors?

For a brief instant senators saw themselves as they are too often seen—and they were scared stiff. Their prestige, they realized, had slipped. Why? What could they do to restore it? How could they keep from being submerged in the authoritarian bureaucracy mushrooming in Washington. It wasn't too late to do something, was it?

Fortunately, it is not too late, but it is later than many senators realized it ever would be nine years ago when congress began turning over its prestige and authority willy-nilly to eager bureaucrats who couldn't have won elections for dog catcher in an honest contest—the Tugwells, the Corcorans, the Cohens, the Wests and their currently famous counterparts who are still on the job.

There was bound to be a reckoning some day—an awful moment of realization when a congressman would rise in his place and wonder what the country was coming to when a legislator's right to have a tankful of gasoline could be questioned while the right of a Leon Henderson to have a tank car full of the stuff was taken for granted. Think rapidly and clearly, honorable sirs. This is the thing congress gave its approval to all those many years ago—its rubber stamp approval, if you please. To be sure, this is wartime, which makes a difference of degree, but not a difference of kind. This is government by decree.

WE'RE ALL FROM MISSOURI

Release of United States Journalists interned by Germany and Italy when war was declared has produced a spate of "inside" information that is having a curious effect. Following closely on the heels of official warnings against believing rumors about coming crackup in the two countries, the reports of the journalists all tend to confirm the rumors.

Of course the journalists, themselves, could be guilty of wishful thinking. Or they could have made the mistake of misplacing emphasis and thereby misleading their readers. Without exception, they warn against over-interpretation signs of growing weakness yet by reporting the signs they do the one thing most likely to encourage over-interpretation. American want to think Germany and Italy are cracking up. They want to think Japan is going to crack up. They're less than human if they didn't.

It is true, nevertheless, that they'd be less than sensible if they let their hopes, false or otherwise, lure them into what might be a propaganda trap. The job in this war is to put Germany, Italy and Japan into a condition that will make their lethal horseplay impossible. Every American, every official of the United States, every official of the United Nations must be from Missouri for the duration. If Mussolini is on his last legs, if Hitler is chewing the carpet, if Hirohito is calling the gods to come in from the bullpen to pitch for Tojo, Potpourri and Etain Shridu, then it is essential to make certain of these things by visits in force to Rome, Berlin and Tokyo. As that familiar piece of advice runs: Believe nothing of what you hear, only half of what you see and no more than 25 percent of what you know—or words to that effect.

STALKING HORSE

The much-bombed, much torpedoed Prinz Eugen, the British report has been, torpedoed again. The Germans admit an attempt, but deny success.

Both accounts agree, however, on the fact of a furious air battle over the ship, and both sides claim aerial casualties equal to those that would be sustained in a heavy clash of aviation arms.

There is apparently no immediate hope of the issue of airplane vs. battleship being settled. It remains in doubt, like the more ancient issue of the automobile vs. the horse, which currently is being revived over again. There is a place for each, depending on circumstances.

Undoubtedly a new pattern of naval warfare is being evolved from experience in this war, just as a new pattern has appeared in the course of all previous wars. The ironclad battleship, the torpedo boat, the destroyer, the submarine and now the torpedo plane all have had their influence.

Pending a definitive conclusion based on the current war, however, one point seems clear. The battleship has become an admirable stalking horse for precipitating aerial battles. If all the aviation losses incurred in the process of trying to destroy and save the Prinz Eugen could be compiled, the ship's impact on the outcome of the war as a target probably would be greater than that of its own guns.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, May 21

AN INTRIGUING and surprising day in which the propitious and adverse influences follow each other in quick succession. The outstanding matter should come with sudden and dramatic force, possibly enforcing a radical and uprooting change, with high adventure and far-reaching effect upon current affairs. This may be in the private or business life, with romantic or emotional crises.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of peculiar, intriguing, and contradictory experiences with adverse and beneficent conditions following each other with swift and startling force. This may affect the business, financial, emotional and social life with deep significance, and hold peculiar aspects in shaping the fortunes and destiny.

A child born on this day may have a rather strange and dramatic life, with many reversals as well as benefits. It will be unusually creative and efficient.

POISONING FROM FUMES

Gasoline Exhausts Dangerous, Doctor Says

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
GASOLINE CAN cause toxic poisoning from fumes, and according to reports, this form of intoxication is on the increase. It is easy to understand why this should be so, since we now use 2,000,000,000

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

gallons of gasoline each month—twice as much as was used in 1927—and whether gasoline is used in your car this year or in an army car, tank or airplane or in an industrial plant, this amount is used just the same.

I knew a little patient—a boy of nine—who, on a visit to a farm, was seated on a tractor where he was right over the exhaust. He became quite pale and anemic during his vacation and undoubtedly the condition was due to the gasoline fumes which he inhaled. When he was at home in the city riding in his father's car, he was protected from the escape.

Drowsy and Dull

Studies show that men exposed to 1,000 parts of gasoline get drowsy and dull and some may even develop numbness in as little as five minutes. Within an hour they are dizzy, suffer from a lack of muscle control and experience slight nausea. When the amount of gasoline is upped to three times that amount, the same symptoms appear, but more quickly. When it is shot up to 7,000 parts of gasoline, the men are intoxicated within five minutes. Animals die very quickly in fumes above 10,000 parts per million.

The parts of the body which are most subject to assault from gasoline fumes are the nervous system, the lungs and bronchial tubes, the blood and small blood vessels which may break, causing hemorrhages into various organs.

The nervous system of a person in air heavily laden with gasoline or poorly ventilated may go bad in a very few minutes or hours. The victim may fall unconscious and die immediately, or within a short time. If death is delayed, the lack of consciousness may be less rapid and may resemble acute alcoholism, with a brief period of incoordination. Delirium and incoordination lasting for hours or even days may follow. The type of unconsciousness depends on the kind of gasoline used.

Naphtha Jag
One form of intoxication is known as the "naphtha jag." The sensation may not be unpleasant and people have been known either to drink or inhale gasoline fumes to get this effect.

The intensity of poisoning depends on poor mixing, poor ignition and poor vaporization of gasoline and air. Too rich a mixture, or incomplete flame propagation, causes gasoline vapor in exhaust gases.

There is also a chronic form of the condition, although how frequent this is is debatable. The chronic type occurs after exposure to low concentrations over a long period. Severe symptoms, such as are found in acute cases, occur. The importance of the chronic cases is probably not very great as they are not especially frequent.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. F. L.: Will you please explain what dropped stomach is and what can be done about it.

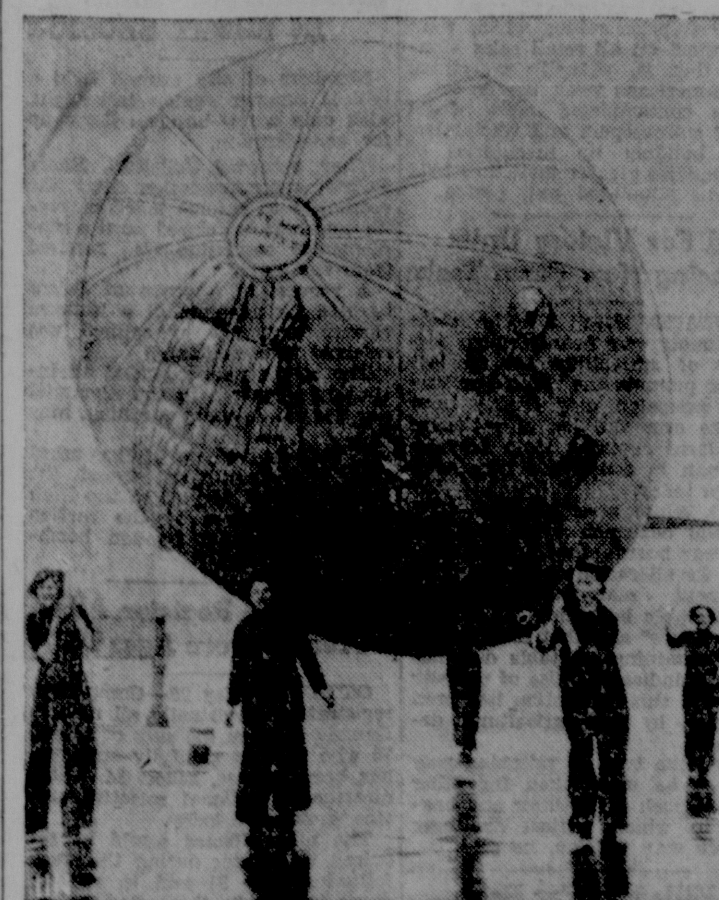

Answer: There is no definite normal place where the stomach should be. If we examine one hundred people with the X-ray, we will find that no two of them have the stomach in the same place. Tall, thin, linear people are likely to have a stomach fairly low. Also after an abdominal operation or a pregnancy, the abdominal muscles are weak so that the stomach is low. Only a very small percentage of these cases of dropped stomach cause any digestive trouble or disability of any kind. When there is any disability, the best treatment is to temper the wind to the shorn lamb and give the patient small meals that will not sag the stomach and which are easy to digest. Half-hour rest periods after meals are advisable. It is also possible to lift the stomach with an abdominal belt or a properly fitted corset.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 46th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CRIME AT CASTAWAY by EDITH BRISTOL

SYNOPSIS
Lately in need of work, Lane decides to become secretary to Walter Gregg, wealthy owner of Castaway, despite the hidden warning employment agency manager. Her girls had tried the job back in a few days. What mystery about "Castaway"? telephones a Miss Baldwin, question. The latter tells the people there "got me." "They're just queer."

heanked the emphatic Miss in and hung up the telephone. d again, thoughtfully, at that ill. That would just about square things up with my landlady and she'd let me store my trunk with her.

I began hauling down my suitcases from a shelf. A gun for a job as secretary. I'd never owned a revolver any more than I'd owned an anti-aircraft gun. Whoever heard of a girl taking a weapon along with her notebook and pencils?
What was the danger? Was Miss Baldwin just flighty and imaginative? Maybe she was the nervous kind. But certainly I wasn't. This was all silliness. I squared my shoulders. Stiffened my backbone. Put in my little blue diary—and packed for Castaway.
In neat shorthand—all my notes are that—my blue diary says:
"October 1 — Today I came to Castaway. I felt very small and lonesome when I got off the motor bus at the crossroad where a gate- way sign said 'Castaway Ranch. No trespassing.' Walter Gregg. A station wagon was waiting and the neat Japanese boy who drove took my bags and smiled and said 'Yes, thank you, please' to all my ques- tions.
The road from San Francisco runs over the skyline crest, then across the dry brown hills, and after a few miles strikes the edge of the cliffs. Down below are the blue waves of the Pacific, smashing against the rocks. It's so beautiful here I have almost forget I am a stranger. I have not met any of the people yet except Issu. He drove me to a darling little cottage, almost like a doll's house, under eucalyptus trees, and smiled and said, 'Dinner, 6 o'clock, thank you.'
That's all I had time to write before my watch told me to get ready for dinner—the strong, cool breeze from the ocean does things to curly hair—and to cross the garden slope down toward the ranch house. It is built on three sides of an open square in Spanish style, and the inside of the patio blazed with beds of zinnias, crimson and orange and gold.
The wide porch seemed filled with dogs. Really there were only three, a pair of soft-eyed spaniels and a huge, spotted Dalmatian, but the way they all came toward me at once made me jump back.
"Don't be afraid of the beasts," said a slim youth with wavy yellow hair and classic profile and a bright blue scarf wound around his throat above his white silk shirt as he stepped out on the porch and quieted the dogs. "Down, Domino. You're Miss? Miss?" I felt his wide blue eyes sizing me up.
"Miss Lane. Mr. Gregg's new secretary."
He held open the door and I had the feeling that he was taking inventory from my rusty curls down over my brown tweed suit (thank fortune, it had worn well) clear down to my brown oxfords.
He must have liked the general effect, for his languid, sardonic manner grew more friendly and he held out a welcoming hand with, "Howwiedo, Miss Lane. I'm Sydney Loftus," and opened another door into a room bright with light from the sunset flooding the west win- dows. A woman sat at the window playing solitaire.
"Mother, this very charming young lady is Miss Lane. My moth- er, Mrs. Gregg." Mrs. Gregg laid a black jack on a red queen and glanced, very casu- ally, in my direction. "Hope you'll stay longer than the other secre- taries did. It's frightfully hard on my husband, having new girls all the time."

I murmured something about the beauty of the ranch and Mrs. Gregg—her name was Estelle. I soon learned—shuffled her cards and the young woman disappeared, so I had time to study the big room and the wife of my new employer.
The room was huge, running all along the ocean side of the ranch house, with an immense fireplace on the wall opposite west windows, and fur rugs spilled over the tiles of the floor, and books and ship models and Indian baskets care- lessly tumbled all around.
While Mrs. Gregg considered what to do with a pair of spades I took a good look at her. At her nails, long and sharp and vivid carmine, the same shade as her lips. At her hair, darker at the roots, synthetic blonde at the ends, piled on top of her head in a mass of juvenile curls. At her costume, Chinese pajamas of peacock blue with gold feathers, embroidered on the brocade. Not so young on closer inspection as at first glance, I de- sisted.
"You might as well sit down." The mistress of the house tossed the words at me. "Dinner'll be late. My sister-in-law, Martha Gregg, is up at the stables with a sick colt. When she's gone everything's late."
I dropped to a low rattan chair and picked up a magazine at ran- dom from the confusion of papers scattered over the big redwood table. But the scene outside was more alluring than any book.
The sun was slipping into the gray water at the horizon, turning the sky to flame and orange. Long purple shadows were the headlands that ran far out into the ocean and a spray of foaming waves margined the coastline as far as I could see.
Sound of voices in the hall brought my attention back from the western sky as Martha Gregg came in. She was square and mid- die-aged, brown as a painting by Diego Rivera, with tanned skin and heavy features, iron-gray hair brushed away from a strong face. Her manner was direct and incisive and the hand she held out to me was heavy with bracelets and rings set with turquoise.
"I should have been here to see that you were taken care of," Miss Gregg explained. "But one of my babies is sick and I went up with the vet to see him. Have they made you comfortable?"
Everything was perfect. I as- sured her, and with a brisk, "Let Issu know if you need anything," Martha Gregg strode through the glass doors and I heard her voice in the dining room.
Sydney Loftus came back, this time with another young man, shorter, slighter, dapper and trim in a dark business suit. His eyes were black and piercing, his mous- tache slipped like a dark pencil mark along his lip.
Again Loftus spoke with his synical half-smile. "Don't be sur- prised, Miss Lane, that our Aunt Martha takes the vet to call on one of her babies. She breeds race horses, you know. Probably it's Seabiscuit's successor that's got the pip—or whatever makes horses sick. What does Craven? You know all about the bang-tails."
The man he called Craven flashed a quick veiled look at Loftus' ban- tering smile. Many times I was to watch that disciplined look on Craven's face. He ignored the jibe and turned to me:
"I'm sorry that the discussion of horses prevented me from being formally presented. May I intro- duce myself? I'm Harry Craven, assistant to Mr. Gregg." Miss Bal- win's words on the telephone flashed to my mind—"and one is shhrrp." This was the sharp one. I acknowl- edged the introduction and said:
"I haven't met Mr. Gregg yet." It was more to break the tension which I felt between the two men that I mentioned my unseen em- ployer than that I had anything to say. For in that moment I felt the train, the distrust, the thinly veiled antagonism that I was to know as a part of Castaway.
"You'll meet him in the morning," Craven answered as we moved into the dining room. "Since he came home from the hospital his man puts him to bed after lunch and after that nobody sees him except Mrs. Gregg and his sister."

"Organized Chinese forces are challenging the invader for every foot he advances in Yunnan and Burma," the spokesman was quoted. The Chinese expeditionary force, under a pre-arranged plan, was reported regrouped to stem further Japanese advances.

No More Conquered Countries

The windfalls of booty from conquered countries helped in the first two years. Now, however, vital tin is being scraped almost to the bottom, the loot from the Ukraine admittedly will not be available this year and the entry of the United States into the war along with the Allies' unexpected economic staying power has pushed the Nazis' production to the very limit.

No less than twelve government agencies try to pound war production out of industry and tell the laborer where he must work. All of Hitler's recent speeches demanded greater sacrifice for greater production.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and the Nazi party have been beating the drums for more work and more results. There has been ruthless extermination of saboteurs.

There is no way to determine just how hard sabotage has hit German war production but there are clues. New decrees have threatened even death for false reports on raw materials, labor reserves or needs in manpower or supplies to fill war contracts.

Gestapo guards watch every vital war factory. Still, at least 1,000,000 shells shipped from Czechoslovakia to the Russian front were reported to have been duds.

A prison camp at Moabit, in the center of Berlin, is filling up with prisoners accused of sabotage, both Germans and foreigners, especially Czechs.

Zines Hurls Recreation To 10 Inning 2-0 Win Over Carrolls

REC SHARES LOOP LEAD WITH SALEM CHINA BALL TEAM

United Cigars Beaten As Brudery Keeps Hits Well-Scattered

After pitching shutout ball against the Carroll Club for nine innings, Johnny Zines launched the game-winning rally with a hot single over second to help cap his own ball game, 2-0, in 10 innings at Centennial park last night. Both pitchers set down batters in order with Sal Guappone, Carrolls' pitching ace, getting in trouble frequently.

Zines, after a streak of wildness, began to blaze his side arm fast one through the middle with a flock of strikeouts as the result. He led off in the tenth with a single off the tiring Guappone, who lost his control and walked Primm and Brown. Sanders and Greenstein went down in order and Kelley singled bringing in the second run.

With one away in the last of the 10th, Johnny Hanzlick blasted one of Zines' slants for a single. Bob Scullion then lifted a double in deep right and when Hanzlick hesitated between third base and the plate, he was trapped and run down, thus quenching the Carroll Club's only scoring chance of the game. Zines gave up five hits in his 10 inning effort.

In the second game on the card, the surprising Salem Chinas edged the United Cigars, 3-1, as Kenny Brudery kept nine Cigar hits well spaced. The Cigars scored one run in the first but held the lead only until the fourth when the Pottery team tallied two runs. They added another in the seventh to ice the game. The Pottery and Recreation are now tied for the lead.

Al Catlos and Bob Jeffries each pounded out two hits in three trips to the plate to pace the losers while Jack Lutz hammered two for two in leading the Chinas.

Orrie Wright, pitcher for the Cigars, gave up only five hits but walked eight men. The free passes kept him in hot water as he was forced to bear down continually. On the other hand, Brudery let the Cigars hit and depended on a flawless defense for good support.

With Oliver setting the Trojans down in regular order, the Leetonia High nine defeated Sebring High on the Leetonia diamond last night, 2-0. STATE TRACK MEET SEEN AS TWO-TEAM CONTEST SATURDAY

Springfield, Cleveland East Tech Are Rated Co-Favorites

By FRITZ HOWELL
(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 20.—More than 100 of Ohio's top-flight high school athletes, survivors of county and district qualifiers, descend on the Buckeye capital Friday and Saturday to compete for state championships in four sports—track-field, baseball, golf and tennis.

The coveted track-field crown is expected to bring about a two-way scrap between Cleveland East Tech and Springfield's scintillating Wildcats, with the remainder of the field fighting for also-ran spots.

East Tech and Springfield won district championships in easy fashion, while Cleveland Heights, which tied East Tech for the top a year ago, was not among the top contenders. The Cleveland schools were deadlocked at 22 points last year, seven ahead of Springfield. The Wildcats from Clark county, however, have pushed aside tough opposition this season in winning warm-up meets.

New Champs Assured
New champions in Class A and Class B baseball were assured as Cincinnati Withrow and Beaver creek failed to qualify, but the golf and tennis teams have a chance to repeat. Upper Arlington, golf champ, finished second to Worthington in district play, but is among the qualifiers.

In tennis Joe Pickering of Youngstown Rayen, singles champ of 1941, is among the eligibles, although he lost the district title to Alex Franklin of Akron Central, while Norman Appel of Cincinnati Hughes, half of the 1941 winning doubles combination, shifted to the singles this season to win his district laurels and a spot in the state finals.

On the basis of qualifying scores, the North College Hill squad of Cincinnati is an odds-on choice for the golf title. The Queen City quartet had a 296 total, an average of 74. That left the North College Hill team 22 strokes ahead of second place Hamilton public, and 23 up on Tiltonville Logan, with 877, was last among the qualifiers.

James Rudolph of North College Hill breezed in with 70 to lead the state, and team mate Sheldon Peters was second with 73.

Finals in all competitions are scheduled Saturday afternoon at Ohio state's athletic plant, with preliminaries Friday.

EMBREE TRIMS A'S 4-1; HEATH STARS

CLEVELAND, May 20.—Mel Harder, who had been waiting quite a spell for another start, was nominated by the Indians today for hurling duties against the Boston Red Sox.

Harder has been tagged for duty several times recently, but Manager Lou Boudreau held him back for weather. He was all set to go yesterday, but Boudreau decided to try out his "kid battery"—Red Embree and Jim Hegan. And Embree pitched a four-hit, 4 to 1 victory to make a sweep of the four-game series with the Athletics.

The Tribe is out for revenge today, for in three meetings at Boston, it lost every game to the Red Sox. Harder is seeking his third win, compared with two losses.

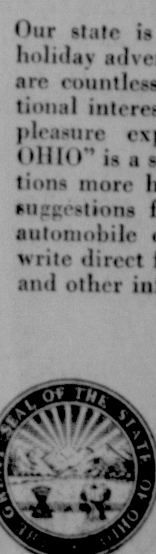

A home run by Oris Hockett, with none on in the first inning, and another by Jeff Heath in the eighth with Hockett aboard featured the Indians' batting attack on Rookie Dick Fowler. Hegan, who like Embree is a product of the Wilkes-Barre farm, beat out an infield hit in the fifth and scored on singles by Ray Mack and Roy Weatherly for the Tribe's other run.

When German Tanks Entered Kharkov Last Fall

News from the Russian front in the Ukraine centers about Kharkov, great industrial city which the Germans entered last fall and which now is the focal point in the Russian advance. Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's armies were reported moving near Krasnograd, 60 miles southwest of Kharkov, and also on the Ukrainian "Pittsburgh" itself. Photo above shows German tanks entering Kharkov last fall.

TRIBE TIES YANKS FOR LEAD; BROOKS SMASH CUBS, 6-1

"Bums" Buy Babe Dahlgren From Chicago For Waiver Price

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Out in the middle west where there is no gasoline rationing the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians have managed to get themselves into a traffic tangle at the top of the American league.

The world champions have been stalled for almost two weeks, the weather and schedule combining to keep them idle on nine of the last 13 days, but meanwhile the Indians have won eight out of nine games to create the worst congestion of the season around first place.

Today the Yanks still are two percentage points ahead, but the Tribe is half a game in front on win-loss reckoning. The standings show:

New York	20	9	.690
Cleveland	22	10	.688

The Indians ambushed the Philadelphia Athletics again yesterday for a 4-1 triumph on the four-hit hurling of slim, red-haired Charles Embree, rookie from Wilkes-Barre making his first start. He had the help of home runs by Oris Hockett and Jeff Heath.

The Yanks were not scheduled and occupied the day by blasting Milwaukee of the American Association in an exhibition game, 8 to 2.

In the only other American league game the Detroit Tigers trounced the Boston Red Sox 5-2 with Hal Newhouser pitching sixth hit ball.

The Brooklyn Dodgers continued to sweep aside all opposition in the National league by tagging the Chicago Cubs 6-1 for the pacemakers' eighth successive victory. Curt Davis pitched six-hit ball.

The Cubs and Dodgers also added another chapter to the touring history of Babe Dahlgren, the journeyman first baseman, as Brooklyn bought him from Chicago for waiver money.

Philadelphia staged a twilight game for army and navy relief funds and 3,366 persons paid $3.732 to see the Phils beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 and knock the Buccaneers out of third place.

This enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to advance by beating the New York Giants 8-4.

The Boston Braves clung precariously to second place by turning back the Cincinnati Reds 2-1. Old John Cooney's single with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning brought home the winning run.

Thompson Or Starr Faces Phils In Series Opener

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—The Cincinnati Reds come here today for a two-game series of little importance with the Phils.

Either Gene Thompson or Ray Starr is the Red pitcher, against Cy Blanton.

The Reds blew, with their customary finesse, the finale of the Boston series, 2 to 1, despite Johnny Vander Meer's fine pitching. Errors of omission and commission, plus failure to hit when it counted, beat the Reds.

Old Johnny Cooney knocked in the winning run in the ninth with a single with the bases full.

HERE IS A FARM WE ARE NOT SELLING, WE ARE PRACTICALLY GIVING IT AWAY!

This real stock farm of 160 acres is located about six miles south of Salem. The buildings are a little off the main road. This a very good land and in a high state of cultivation. Has a peach orchard of about 20 acres. It is improved with a first-class large bank barn with extra large straw shed all under slate, watering trough in barn, large wagon house and a very good six-room house. Electricity in both house and barn. We are pricing this farm for a short time at $5,500.

If you really want a large stock farm at the price of a medium-priced city home, here it is. We are giving you in real value at least $3,500 in order to sell you this farm. If these buildings had to be replaced it would cost no less than $8,000. If you put off buying a farm another year, you will certainly pay more money, as farms are being picked up readily.

If you really want to sell or buy a farm of any size, it is to your interest to see me at once.

NO U.S. PLANES LOST, DOOLITTLE REPORTS

Japanese Claims of American Aviators Downed Proven As False

Several we know were shot down, possibly more. Incidentally the pilots of these planes seemed somewhat inexperienced, evidently not up to the standard of those encountered in active theaters."

Could Have Bombed Palace

Emphasizing that all of the objectives were of a military nature, Doolittle said several of his B-25 medium bombers dropped their loads in plain view of the imperial palace in Tokyo, but on his express orders made no attempt to hit the palace itself.

Trailing a path from five to 20 miles wide and 40 miles long down the islands, the bombers scored direct hits on a nearly completed warship near Tokyo, the Mitsubishi aircraft factory at Nagoya, industrial concentrations, docks, shipyards and ammunition dumps.

Doolittle had high praise for the skill and precision with which the 79 officers and men who accompanied him carried out their mission. Each has been awarded the distinguished Service Cross.

All had volunteered, without knowing Japan was to be the objective, and were specially trained

Tops in U.S. and Aussie Amity

Allies in the strictest sense of the word are the Australian and American soldiers in the picture above. When the doughboy paid a visit to this Australian beach and became lonesome, the soldier from down under allowed him to repose blissfully in the lap of his girl friend. For the sake of U. S.-Australian amity, all parties concerned agreed to let a passing cameraman record the tableau.
